NONDOC SEEKING EDITORIAL INTERN FOR ONLINE NEWS COMPANY

Launched in 2015, NonDoc.com is a new media and journalism site based in Oklahoma City.

Edited by two OU Gaylord College and OU Daily alumni, the site seeks an editorial intern interested in gaining critical experience and knowledge in the world of online journalism.

Qualified applicants will improve their abilities to create and edit content using WordPress, operate social media and learn the business side of an independent online publication.

The internship will last from at least March 15 to June 1, 2018, and includes financial compensation.

Those interested should send a resumé to editorial@nondoc.com, along with at least two writing samples. All applicants must be current Gaylord College students.

Sincerely,

William W. Savage III, editor in chief / co-owner

Josh McBee, managing editor / co-owner

Amy Stinnett, client relations manager
